DON'T BUY GREY IMPORTS UNLESS YOU WANT TO FORGO GUARANTEES

Radio Amateurs are advised not to buy grey imported products, if they do it is at their own risk as these products carry no guarantee and will not be serviced by the authorised dealer in South Africa. This warning came from Multisource, distributors of ICOM amateur equipment.

Multisource told the SARL that the company will in no way whatsoever support any Icom Amateur product that was not originally supplied by them or their approved dealers - this pertains to Warranty, After-Sales Service and Repairs. For all Warranty exchanges or repairs, a serial and invoice number MUST be supplied together with a fully completed RMA form. If the serial number/s of the equipment does not reflect on the records at Multisource, the Warranty will not be honoured. The same applies to equipment bought overseas.

By law, grey importers must inform their customers that their products do not carry the manufacturer s warrantee.

SARL GETS AN AWARD AT INSITE 2008

The SARL stand received recognition for participation at INSITE 2008, a technology exhibition held in Sandton last week. The SARL received the Exhibitors Award from the Department of Science and Technology in recognition of the SARL's contribution to the success of the INSITE Exhibition.

WHAT IS AMATEUR RADIO? A BIG CONCERN

Young visitors from all communities to the SARL stand at INSITE 2008 asked the question "What is Amateur Radio?"

It appears that the concept of it being a hands-on technology hobby or past time is alien to today's youth. When discussing this at the Chairman's forum at last week's RTA in Gauteng the consensus was that amateur radio must be more visible. It still however raises the question "What is Amateur Radio." We all knew what it meant to us when we became involved but that clearly does not cut with today's millennium society.

The SARL is working on a 2009 Amateur Radio Promotion campaign and we need your input. How do we tell the youth of today "What is Amateur radio." Send your ideas on the subject to armi@sarl.org.za.

PROPAGATION REPORT

Hannes Coetzee, ZS6BZP, reports that the expected solar activity will be very low. The geomagnetic field is expected to be mostly at quiet levels until 29 September after which it will rise to unsettled levels. The expected Effective Sun Spot number for the coming week will be less than 5. DX conditions will generally be good to the North and poor in the general Northwesterly directions.

20 m will provide best opportunities for DX. There is a possibility of 15 and 20 m openings towards India from about 14:00 CAT. There is the possibility of weak 40 and 80 m openings to New Zealand at 19:00. From 07:00 20 m contacts may be possible with Australia. From 16:00 there may be good 15 and 20 m openings towards Europe. Contacts with the USA are going to be very challenging. 10 MHz is looking promising late afternoon and after dark for the CW and digital enthusiasts.

Local conditions are going to be good on 40 m during the day time. 80 m may perform well during the early mornings and late afternoons over the shorter distances, e.g. between ZS5 and ZS6. 30 m may perform well during the middle of the day between ZS6 and ZS2. 80 m is the frequency of choice in the evenings. With summer approaching fast it is now an excellent time to make those 80 m contacts for your WAZS before the thunderstorms and static start again.

Remember that this is only a prediction and that HF always has the capability to surprise you, but you will never know unless you switch your rig on, listen and also call CQ.
